QUOTE OF THE DAY

"Without craftsmanship, inspiration is a mere reed shaken in the wind." – Johannes Brahms

"What has gotten us through the pandemic? Streaming movies, reading books. Artists move us through the darkness in such obvious ways, but many people think art is a luxury." – Rachel Chanoff

"I wish to live because life has within it that which is good, that which is beautiful and that which is love. Therefore, since I have known all of these things, I have found them to be reason enough and — I wish to live. Moreover, because this is so, I wish others to live for generations and generations and generations." – Lorraine Hansberry

"Life consists not simply in what heredity and environment do to us but in what we make out of what they do to us." – Harry Emerson Fosdick

"For me the important distinction is between a stylistic approach to the design; and an analytical approach giving the process of due consideration to time, place, and purpose ... My analytical approach requires a full understanding of the three essential elements ... to arrive at an ideal balance among them." – I. M. Pei

"Design is really a special case of problem solving. One wants to bring about a desired state of affairs. Occasionally one wants to remedy some fault but more usually one wants to bring about something new. For that reason design is more open ended than problem solving. It requires more creativity. It is not so much a matter of linking up a clearly defined objective with a clearly defined starting position (as in problem solving) but more a matter of starting out from a general position in the direction of a general objective." – Edward de Bono

“When you slip on a banana peel, people laugh at you; but when you tell people you slipped on a banana peel, it's your laugh. So you become the hero rather than the victim of the joke.” – Nora Ephron

“We are here and it is now. Further than that, all human knowledge is moonshine.” – H. L. Mencken
